at the time in the second story. Lewiston and wife were awakened by the glare of the fire and rushed down stairs. Mrs. Lewiston carrying her youngest child in her arms, another child aged ten years, and the hired man following all badly injured by the flames. The persons cremated alive were four boys, aged eighteen, fifteen, six and four years, and a girl aged ten.

If, in the course of human events, (observes the Columbus Dispatch) the learned gentlemen who revise the Bible will leave us the Ten Commandments, the Lord's Prayer, and the command to love thy neighbor as thyself, we will take the responsibility of saying that that will be satisfactory, contradicted by the Plain Dealer. No doubt, however, the recent death of his son, ex-Mayor Payne, had a depressing effect upon his spirits.

Proposed Amendment to the Constitution of Ohio. ELECTIONS. Senate Joint Resolution No. 28.

JOINT RESOLUTION. Amending Section 4, Article X, of the Constitution, relating to the Election of Township Officers.

Resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio (two-fifths of all the members elected to each house concurring therein) That there be submitted to the voters of the State, on the 2nd day of October, A. D. 1885, a proposition to amend section four, article ten of the Constitution of the State, so as to read as follows:

Section 4. Township officers shall be elected by the voters of each township, at such time, in such manner, and for such term not exceeding three years, as may be provided by law, but shall hold their offices until their successors are elected and qualified.

The electors desiring, at said election, to vote in favor of the foregoing amendment shall have written or printed on their ballots the words, "Constitutional amendment, township officers—No."

A. D. MARSH, Speaker of the House of Representatives. ELMER WHITE, President pro tem of the Senate. Adopted April 9, 1885.

Proposed Amendments to the Constitution of Ohio. ELECTIONS. House Joint Resolution No. 67.

JOINT RESOLUTION. Proposing Amendments to Article Two, Three, and Ten, of the Constitution of the State.

Be it Enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, That propositions to amend section 2 of article II, section 1 of article III, and section 2 of article X of the Constitution of the State of Ohio, be submitted to the electors of the State, on the second Tuesday of October, A. D. 1885, to be acted upon as follows:

ARTICLE II. Section 2. Senators and Representatives shall be elected biennially by the electors of the respective counties or districts, and the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, their term of office shall commence on the first day of January next thereafter, and continue two years.

ARTICLE III. Section 1. The executive department shall consist of a Governor, Lieutenant-Governor, Secretary of State, and Auditor of State, Treasurer of State, and an Attorney-General, who shall be elected on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, their term of office shall commence on the first day of January next thereafter, and continue two years.

ARTICLE X. Section 2. County officers shall be elected on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, by the electors of each county, in such manner, and for such term, not exceeding three years, as may be provided by law.

At such election, the voters in favor of the adoption of the amendment to section two of article two, shall have placed upon their ballots the words, "Amendment to section two of article two of the constitution—Yes," and those who do not favor the adoption of the amendment, shall have placed upon their ballots the words, "Amendment to section two of article two of the constitution—No."

Those who favor the adoption of the amendment to section three of article three of the constitution, shall have placed upon their ballots the words, "Amendment to section three of article three of the constitution—Yes," and those who do not favor the adoption of the amendment, shall have placed upon their ballots the words, "Amendment to section three of article three of the constitution—No."

Those who do not favor the adoption of the amendment to section ten of article ten of the constitution, shall have placed upon their ballots the words, "Amendment to section ten of article ten of the constitution—No," and those who do not favor the adoption of the amendment, shall have placed upon their ballots the words, "Amendment to section ten of article ten of the constitution—No."

A. D. MARSH, Speaker of the House of Representatives. JOHN G. WARWICK, President of the Senate. Adopted March 25th, 1885.

OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY OF STATE. JAMES S. ROBINSON, Secretary of State. The foregoing is a true copy of a Joint Resolution adopted by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, on the 25th day of March, A. D. 1885.

WHAT HE SAW.

A man with gray hair, closely cropped, and a clean shaven chin, sat upon the driver's seat of a locomotive standing in the yard. His eyes were green and gray, and his nose, cheek, cheek, rugged jaw and firm mouth there was a gentle, even sad expression upon his face. He wore a blouse and overalls, and eyed his locomotive carefully. He was an engineer, waiting for the signal to back up and "hook on" to the train.

"Suppose you think a good deal of your machine, don't you?" remarked an admiring bystander.

"So you think I like her, do you?" And then, after a pause, and in a lower, more mellow tone.

"Why shouldn't I like her? She is the only thing on earth I have to love."

Touched and interested by these words, and by the manner in which they were said, the stranger made no further inquiries tending to draw the old man out.

"He succeeded."

"I have nothing else to love," said the rugged engineer, "I live upon my engine and for her. She is all the world to me. I am without wife, child or relative—I am alone in the world, my engine and me. Every trip I make in her I call my bridal tour. Once—but no matter about that."

And the gray head turned aside.

"Once, you said, won't you tell me what that means?"

"Once," replied the engineer, his voice more husky than before—his voice means much to me. It's nothing to you. And yet—yet it will no harm to me to tell you. I have been an engine for thirty years, and I have been a young lady of thirty.

You thought me older of course, but I am only 46. I was then engaged to marry a young lady. I do not need to tell you how much I loved her; what hopes and ambitions I had for the future. Just then I was promoted to engineer of a passenger engine, but was transferred to the western end of the road. That caused a parting, but we arranged that I was to be gone three months and then return for my bride. The three months passed slowly enough; you are not old and perhaps your own wedding once will tell you what patience mine must have been. But I saved my money, and I was happy. Notwithstanding my impatience those were the happiest days of my life. I knew I had a real girl for my lady's affection, and even this did not worry me, so great was my confidence in her.

"When the three months were nearly up I applied for a leave of absence, and one night was on the next run to the last before I should go east to my wedding. The night was perfect, and the air was just what I needed. I was to be gone three months and then return for my bride. The three months passed slowly enough; you are not old and perhaps your own wedding once will tell you what patience mine must have been. But I saved my money, and I was happy. Notwithstanding my impatience those were the happiest days of my life. I knew I had a real girl for my lady's affection, and even this did not worry me, so great was my confidence in her."

"I have eight minutes before the gong sounds," he continued, "and in those eight minutes I will tell you what has been an eternity to me. I have been an engine for thirty years, and I have been a young lady of thirty. You thought me older of course, but I am only 46. I was then engaged to marry a young lady. I do not need to tell you how much I loved her; what hopes and ambitions I had for the future. Excitement Over a Marvelous Cure in England. The newspapers of Great Britain are filled with accounts of the wonderful recovery of a young man who had been so ill with asthma and rheumatism that he was not able to lie down in bed for nine long weeks. This cure was due to the Shakers of Mount Lebanon, N. Y. They say that this, like nearly all others, was the result of inspired wisdom, and the Shaker Extract of Roots (Siegel's Syrup) effected this wonderful cure by restoring the digestive organs to a healthy condition, dividing the food into those disagreeable forms of sick headache, biliousness, &c. The Shakers have spent fifty years in perfecting this Remedy for Dyspepsia, and its effects upon the digestive organs is something wonderful. For dyspepsia, indigestion, or long the Shaker Tar Capsules. May 1m
